خليفة

Khalifah

FACT SHEET
October 2026
khalifah.app/press

Build a good world, and look after it.

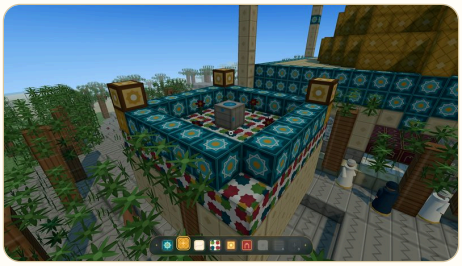

Khalifah is a free, Minecraft-style building game for Muslim children aged about five to twelve. Children build a village, pray with their neighbours when the adhan calls, and learn at a small madrasah. There are no ads, no purchases, no accounts and no chat with strangers. It plays in a web browser at khalifah.app.

The madrasah in the morning.

Jama'ah: men's rows in front, women's rows behind.

A tiled courtyard, built block by block.

AT A GLANCE

Key facts

NAME	Khalifah (خليفة), Arabic for “steward”. Say it kha-LEE-fah.
MADE BY	Afridi, a web developer in Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada. A one-person project.
LAUNCHED	13 October 2026
PLAYS ON	A web browser on a computer (Chrome, Edge, Firefox or Safari with WebGL 2). Tablets are being tested.
PRICE	Free. No ads, no in-app purchases, no subscriptions.
AGES	About 5 to 12, with a gentler pace for 5 to 7
PLAYERS	On your own, or with friends who join with a private code
PRIVACY	No accounts and no tracking of individuals
LANGUAGE	English. Arabic and Urdu are planned.
WEBSITE	khalifah.app

IN THE GAME

What children do

- Build a village from sand, marble, glazed tile and gold, with fountains, lanterns and date palms.
- Pray together. Five times each game day the adhan sounds and the villagers line up for jama'ah. Children can join on a carpet.
- Learn at the madrasah: eight short classes, six questions each, with unlimited retakes.
- Read at the Quran stand: seven short surahs in Arabic, transliteration and English. The game never recites.
- Play with friends using a private five-character code, device to device.
- The Aqueduct Year (8 and up, optional): serve as amir, fund a water project and distribute zakat.

What it isn't

> Nothing scary: no jinn, no shayateen, no dark creatures.
>
> No way to fail: no death, no timers, no fail states.
>
> No strangers: no public lobbies, no chat with strangers.
>
> Nothing to buy: no ads, no in-app purchases, no tracking.

Press contact: Afridi, nextcodeca@gmail.com

Screenshots and logos: khalifah.app/press